Header

The `<header>` element represents introductory content or navigation links for a section or page.

Nav

The `<nav>` element is used for navigation links within a website.

Section

The `<section>` element defines a thematic grouping of content, often with a heading.

Article

The `<article>` element is used for independent, self-contained content like blog posts or news articles.

Aside

The `<aside>` element contains content that is related to the main content, like sidebars or callouts.

Footer

The `<footer>` element represents footer content, such as copyright information and links.

Main

The `<main>` element represents the primary content of the document, excluding headers, footers, and sidebars.

Figure

The `<figure>` element is used to group media content like images, diagrams, or illustrations with captions.

Figcaption

The `<figcaption>` element provides a caption for a `<figure>` element.

Mark

The `` element highlights text for emphasis or reference purposes.